PLDW Municipal Infrastructure Team Leader Teno A. West to be a Featured Presenter at the National Council for Public-Private Partnerships' P3Connect 2016 Conference

White Plains, NY – June 22, 2016 – Pannone Lopes Devereaux & West LLC (PLDW) Principal Teno A. West, who leads the firm's Municipal Infrastructure Team, will be a featured panelist at the National Council for Public-Private Partnerships' (NCP3P) P3Connect 2016 Conference scheduled from June 27 to 29, 2016 at the VenueSIX10 in Chicago. Attorney West will participate in "The Real Estate and Social Infrastructure Institute Symposium" to be held on June 28. The two-part presentation will address effective ways to engage public sector leaders that could lead to growth in this sector. For more information about P3Connect 2016, including details on how to register, visit the conference website at <http://www.p3connect2016.org/>. For more information about NCP3P, visit <http://www.ncppp.org/>.

Attorney West is nationally recognized for his representation of governments in the areas of public contracts, water law, solid waste management, municipal law, procurement law, administrative law and construction law. As a leading authority in the field of public-private partnerships (P3) and alternative delivery approaches, including design-build, design-build-operate, concessions and other forms of P3s, he has served as the lead negotiator for the development of cutting-edge environmental and civic infrastructure projects throughout the United States. He has extensive experience in representing government agencies, municipalities and counties in the public procurement process and counseling clients with respect to environmental infrastructure projects, including water, wastewater, combined sewer overflow, solid waste, co-composting, materials recovery, and conversion technology and waste-to-energy projects. Attorney West has special experience in the development of urban renewal and municipal construction projects, representing municipalities and public improvement corporations in the procurement, construction, operation and financing of a variety of civic projects, including sports stadiums, municipal buildings and educational facilities. He is a frequent guest speaker at national and international trade association events and global conferences.

PLDW's Municipal Infrastructure Team is recognized as among the country's most prominent leaders in the practice areas of water and wastewater law, solid waste management, construction law, municipal law, environmental law, transportation law, real property law, labor and employment and litigation, as well as in the areas of public infrastructure, procurement, regionalization, governance, permitting, energy, solid waste and privatization and alternative delivery models for project development, including public-private partnerships (P3). The firm's municipal infrastructure attorneys provide responsive, cost-effective strategic counsel and guidance to states, counties, municipalities and public authorities across the country seeking solutions to complex infrastructure needs. They are highly experienced lawyers at the forefront of new developments in efficient methodologies for water and sewer treatment, solid waste management, municipal buildings, recreational facilities, and other public infrastructure projects. The Team draws upon in-depth experience in multiple areas of law, including project management, real estate, contract maintenance and other disciplines to solve complicated legal issues on governmental projects from conception to completion whether a project involves financing, structuring contract documents, design-build, design-build-operate or the design of comprehensive public-private partnerships.
