"I commend NBC 10 for focusing on the issue of online safety for children and teens," said Attorney Lamoureux. "The Internet and popular social media platforms pose ever-increasing risks and challenges to all of us, and I’m pleased and humbled to be asked to share my expertise in this area along with my esteemed co-panelists."

Attorney Lamoureux is a member of PLDO’s Employment, Litigation and Corporate & Business Teams. His extensive practice areas include complex commercial litigation, employment law, social media law and creditors’ rights. In addition to being an accomplished business litigator, he is widely known as an authority on cutting-edge legal issues relating to social and digital media law and the Internet of Things. He regularly appears as a broadcast legal commentator on these topics, among others. He also created and teaches an MBA-level course called "Digital and Social Media in the Business Environment" at Providence College, where he received a B.A. in Political Science, cum laude, and also serves as Practitioner Faculty. In 2011, he was honored for his achievements by Providence Business News with a 40 Under Forty award.

Attorney Lamoureux holds a Master of Arts degree in Political Science from the University of Rhode Island and earned his J.D., magna cum laude, from the Syracuse University College of Law. At the same time, he received a Master of Public Administration from the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs. He is qualified to serve as a receiver in Rhode Island Superior Court.
