Brian J. Lamoureux is a Partner with Pannone Lopes Devereaux & O’Gara LLC and a member of the Employment, Litigation and Corporate & Business Teams. He is also Practitioner Faculty in Management (Business Law) at Providence College, his alma mater.

His extensive practice areas include complex commercial litigation, employment law, social media law and creditors’ rights. In addition to being an accomplished business litigator, he has developed into a nationally recognized voice on cutting-edge legal issues relating to social media. He is a frequent presenter, published author and broadcast commentator on social media and e-communications in the workplace. He has appeared on NBC10 several times and has presented to Fortune 150+ executives and thousands of other business leaders, students, employers and human resource professionals on social media and workplace issues. His recent newspaper columns include Should Employees Use Facebook at Work?, Privacy Rights Being Tested in the Digital Age, Digital Age Hiring Process Filled With Danger, Texting in the Workplace? Dangers Abound, Email Privacy Not a Guarantee in Workplace, and Worry About Workplace Prejudice? Clean Up. Mr. Lamoureux’s work has also been published in the Providence Business News and Rhode Island Lawyers Weekly.

He successfully briefed and argued before the First Circuit Court of Appeals in a case confirming a surety’s rights to indemnification. He was lead counsel in a successfully resolved certified class action regarding the demutualization of an insurance company before the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Rhode Island, and served as trial co-counsel in one of the largest defense jury verdicts in the Federal District Court in Massachusetts.

Mr. Lamoureux has been honored for his achievements by the Providence Business News and was selected as a member of its 2011 40 Under Forty Class.
